

YOUTH CANCER SERVICE

Empowering Clinicians in AYA Cancer Care

Discover YCS is a national, self-paced online training program designed to support healthcare professionals new to adolescent and young adult (AYA) cancer care. Developed collaboratively by the Youth Cancer Services (YCS) clinicians and young people with lived experience, this program offers a comprehensive introduction to the YCS model, its operations, and the young people it serves.

Whether you're stepping into a new role within YCS or simply passionate about supporting AYAs with cancer, Discover YCS complements local induction processes and helps you find your place within the YCS network.

This award-winning program offers a comprehensive introduction to the YCS network and the unique needs of AYAs with cancer. It highlights the vital role of multidisciplinary teams and explores key topics including trauma-informed care, common AYA cancers, psychosocial support, survivorship, fertility preservation, and more.
